

Foreword

Over ten years ago, nearly 100 lawyers came together to publish the first edition of Product Liability: Warnings, Instructions, and Recalls. The Compendium was updated in 2012, and now, thanks to the hard work of editor-in-chief Ken Ross and all the volunteers who updated chapters, this third edition is complete. This compendium reaches beyond the 50 states to include the laws of the District of Columbia, the European Union and twelve foreign countries. The authors who contributed to the chapters in this book are among the very best defense trial lawyers in the world. They helped develop the topics and organized this compendium in its current format. This compendium would not have been possible without the countless hours volunteered by the authors and Ken Ross. I am confident that you will find this compendium to be a vital part of your resource materials.
